Concerns   the fight to protect democracy

The General Assembly,

Keeping in mind   the recent agressions to the emblematic institutions of democracy perpetrated by nationalist demonstrators disputing the democratic institutions and openly attacking minorities,

Alarmed by   the multiplication of political organisations that have nationalist and radical ideologies, encouraging the direct attacks against democracies in numerous areas,

Witnessing   that the evacuations of those protests are dangerous for the demonstrators (80 injured in Brazil in January 2023, among which 40 badly injured), but mostly for law enforcement officers which are trying to hold those raging and irresponsable spirits and that there are expensive additional costs that the States have to make up for (Capitol Riot estimated cost: $USD 2.73 million, april 2023),

Observing   the multiplication and the generalisation of hate speech spread by the use of social media and the facilitated access to the Internet and the deplorable role that some named government and parliament members play in these escalations,

Noting   the implementation of massive operation of personal data subtraction to serve those extremist political campaigns,

Proposes
          -    the institution of an international and publicised trial judging the governments having recently supported such attacks, especially one, the United States of America, for being a paladin of democracy;
          -    to facilitate and support national action plans to keep close watch of the political extremism phenomenon;
          -    the overlooking of the data of controversial political figures which can be considered as threats to peace and to the democratic institution of a nation;
          -    the establishment of global certification programs to fight against fake news;
          -    the use of the democracy index to establish a level beyond which the threatened country will enter a list where it can call for military assistance if the situation degenerates.
